*MetLife Foundation funds an additional 565 volunteer and matching gift grantees

MetLife Foundation has made a five-year (2013-2018) commitment of $200 million to improve financial inclusion worldwide.

ADVANCING FINANCIAL INCLUSION

In 2013, MetLife Foundation committed to an ambitious strategy: to improve the financial lives of millions of people all over the world. The key to that global effort is to expand financial inclusion—so that more of the world’s households and businesses have convenient access to a full suite of quality, affordable financial services, delivered by trustworthy providers who treat them with respect. The story of financial inclusion is the story of people like Jema Naik (photo). She and her family lived in severe poverty in their village in India until Trickle Up, a MetLife Foundation grantee, provided the start-up capital and encouragement she needed to open a small shop. Jema Naik is on the path to a better life now. But there are still billions of people who don’t have all the financial tools they need—including 2 billion who lack any access at all.

MetLife Foundation’s comprehensive strategy focuses on projects in three areas: Knowledge so that customers like Jema Naik are equipped to use financial services effectively; Services so that strong institutions can deliver the right products through the right channels; and Insights so that the financial inclusion industry can share lessons learned and support each other’s efforts. We pursue this strategy by making grants to some of the most innovative and effective organizations in the financial inclusion field.

SUPPORTING OUR LOCAL COMMUNITIES

Along with our focus on financial inclusion, MetLife Foundation is also proud to support other initiatives important to the lives of the communities where MetLife works. These include arts and cultural activities, program-related investments, disaster relief, and health and medical research.

MetLife employees are another important source of support, participating in volunteer projects all over the world. Each year they donate tens of thousands of hours of their time and expertise to help create positive change at the local level.
